DJVU is a musical moniker of Matthew Binginot, a Vermont musician, filmmaker, photographer, and designer. Obsessed with creating, mixing, and performing music, DJVU's productions stretch to all corners of electronic music including house, trance, disco, garage, and synthwave styles.

In addition to playing guest sets at venues throughout North America and Europe, DJVU has toured and performed at festivals, clubs, and a variety of dance events. He currently holds residencies in Burlington Vermont and produces music for several New England music projects.

No matter where he is performing, DJVU's live sets are an amalgamation of melodic musical mixing, unique visual performance setups, and non-stop energy.
